

3. The author concludes, “If young people like you work toward the conservation of tropical rainforests, the benefits to our world will continue for many generations.” Explain (a) what needs to be done, and (b) how future generations will benefit. Your answers may be written in point form.

LEVEL ONE

What Needs to Be Done	Benefits for Future Generations
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> plant trees to recreate the rainforest 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> less carbon dioxide in the atmosphere
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> stop destroying plants 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> may find more concer hebrcotion
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> don't cut down the trees. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> trees give off oxygen may find new species there.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> save the rainforest 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> save the rainforest and gives julis to explorers can save animals so the don't get extinct.

Thinking	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Making Inferences/ Interpreting Text Explains inferences supported by text evidence and logical reasoning	Limited: makes simple, unsupported inferences; may be illogical	Partial: makes simple, reasonable inferences with some support	Considerable: makes and supports logical inferences	Highly effective: makes and supports logical, insightful inferences

Responses require students to understand implicit information in the text.

Communication	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Communicating Clearly Explanations are well-organized and clearly expressed	Limited organization and clarity	Some organization and clarity	Considerable organization and clarity	High degree of organization and clarity

Engaging in Reading • Infer • Visualize • Find important ideas

3. The author concludes, “If young people like you work toward the conservation of tropical rainforests, the benefits to our world will continue for many generations.” Explain (a) what needs to be done, and (b) how future generations will benefit. Your answers may be written in point form.

LEVEL TWO

What Needs to Be Done	Benefits for Future Generations
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> stop deforestation 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> oxygen carbon dioxide absorbed climate soil.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Inform others 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Amazon Rainforest will still exist. We can work together trees won't be all cut down
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Save the animals 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> animals will have a home in the forest to live species won't be endangered
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> care for our world 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> save the rainforest stop pollution control the climate

Thinking	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Making Inferences/ Interpreting Text Explains inferences supported by text evidence and logical reasoning	Limited: makes simple, unsupported inferences; may be illogical	Partial: makes simple, reasonable inferences with some support	Considerable: makes and supports logical inferences	Highly effective: makes and supports logical, insightful inferences

Responses require students to understand implicit information in the text.

Communication	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Communicating Clearly Explanations are well-organized and clearly expressed	Limited organization and clarity	Some organization and clarity	Considerable organization and clarity	High degree of organization and clarity

3. The author concludes, “If young people like you work toward the conservation of tropical rainforests, the benefits to our world will continue for many generations.” Explain (a) what needs to be done, and (b) how future generations will benefit. Your answers may be written in point form.

LEVEL THREE

What Needs to Be Done	Benefits for Future Generations
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> we need to stop cutting down the trees so join a conservation group 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Animals in the rainforest will stop going extinct because they will still be able to find a home and food
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> only use rainforest for natural things and not gold mines and cattle farms 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> no pollution Will still be able to get cancer medications
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Get people aware of what is being done to our rainforests 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> More and more people will be able to help us put a stop to deforestation
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Get people involved to help save the rainforest 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> help raise money to be able to put an end deforestation

Thinking	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Making Inferences/ Interpreting Text Explains inferences supported by text evidence and logical reasoning	Limited: makes simple, unsupported inferences; may be illogical	Partial: makes simple, reasonable inferences with some support	Considerable: makes and supports logical inferences	Highly effective: makes and supports logical, insightful inferences

Responses require students to understand implicit information in the text.

Communication	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Communicating Clearly Explanations are well-organized and clearly expressed	Limited organization and clarity	Some organization and clarity	Considerable organization and clarity	High degree of organization and clarity

3. The author concludes, “If young people like you work toward the conservation of tropical rainforests, the benefits to our world will continue for many generations.” Explain (a) what needs to be done, and (b) how future generations will benefit. Your answers may be written in point form.

LEVEL FOUR

What Needs to Be Done	Benefits for Future Generations
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> we need to lower the need/want of the lumber (ex.boycott) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> the companies won't need as many trees cut down to build their products because not as many products will be bought. This will save trees for the future and kept the temperature the same.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> we need to join conservation groups to show that we care about the Rainforest 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> this will save the Rainforest for the future and will inspire future generations to continue to care about the rainforest
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> we need to educate ourselves about the Rainforest. We can't really stand up for something we don't know about 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> this will help the future because we will be able to educate them with the knowledge that we have obtained.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> we need to raise money for the protection of the forest. The environmental groups need money to support their acts 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> if our environmental groups succeed with our money that future generations will have the rainforest (benefit) and they will not need to donate their money (benefit)

Thinking	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Making Inferences/ Interpreting Text Explains inferences supported by text evidence and logical reasoning	Limited: makes simple, unsupported inferences; may be illogical	Partial: makes simple, reasonable inferences with some support	Considerable: makes and supports logical inferences	Highly effective: makes and supports logical, insightful inferences

Responses require students to understand implicit information in the text.

Communication	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4
Communicating Clearly Explanations are well-organized and clearly expressed	Limited organization and clarity	Some organization and clarity	Considerable organization and clarity	High degree of organization and clarity