Staying Safe Online

Focus Morphemes
Prefixes	un-, dis-
Pronunciation	The prefix un- is pronounced as it looks: /un/. The prefix dis- is pronounced as it looks: /dis/.

Etymology of un- and dis-
Origin	un- comes from Anglo-Saxon; dis- comes from Latin
Meaning	not; the opposite of (These prefixes create antonyms.)
Examples: unlucky disagree	Look at the word lucky. What does it mean? If we add the prefix un-, the word becomes unlucky, the opposite of lucky. Look at the word agree. What does it mean? If we add the prefix dis-, the word becomes disagree, the opposite of agree.

Vocabulary

- unusual
- unsafe
- uncomfortable
- unhappy
- dishonest
- dislike
- disrespectful
- disconnect

Activating Prior Knowledge

Technology is part of our world. What do you like to do on a tablet or computer?

Staying Safe Online

Do you spend time online? If you do, you are not unusual! Playing games and watching videos can be fun. Sometimes, we are unprepared for what might happen online.

Question: How can you avoid being unsafe online?

Answer: Here are three important reminders:

1. Never share your address, phone number, or school. You would not tell this information to a stranger. Don't share it online, either! Check with an adult before you share any information about yourself or your family.
2. Do not click on a link or an attachment if you do not know the person who sent it.
3. Do not share photos of yourself online.

Q: Do you really know who you are talking to online?

A: People can go online and pretend to be someone else. Remember, if you have not met someone in person, you cannot be sure who they really are.

Most people are honest about who they are. But you may go online and talk to someone who is dishonest. An adult might pretend to be a child. People like this are good at tricking people, even smart people!

Q: What should you do if someone makes mean or rude comments online?

A: Sometimes, people go online and say hurtful things. You may see a comment you dislike. Or, a comment may make you feel unsafe. Do not make any hurtful comments yourself. Instead, talk with an adult you trust about anything online that makes you uncomfortable or unhappy.

Time to Talk

Being a good digital citizen means respecting others online. How do you show respect when you are online? What would you do if someone were being disrespectful?

Word Study

In your Word Study notebook, add today's morphemes.

New Morphemes	Type of Morpheme	Origin	Meaning
un-, dis-	prefix	un- comes from Anglo-Saxon; dis- comes from Latin	not; the opposite of Creating Antonyms: Work with a partner to create some antonyms. In your notebook, add un- and dis- to each base below.

Base			un-	dis-
wrap	true	clear
happy	kind	connect
appear	healthy	honest
obey

Some of the words you created are not real words! Read each new word out loud. Use it in a sentence. Does it sound right? Put a star beside the words you think are real words.

Writing Connections

The information about staying safe online is in question-and-answer format. Write an answer to each question below.

Question: Why is it important to keep your passwords private?
Answer:

Q: Why is it important to disconnect from technology sometimes?
A:

www.pearsoncanadaschool.com

Pearson