More Increasing Patterns

The dashed box contains three rows of patterns:

- Row 1: Four patterns of increasing complexity. The first is a 2x2 square with a vertical bar of 2 squares in the center. The second is a 3x3 square with a vertical bar of 3 squares in the center. The third is a 4x4 square with a vertical bar of 4 squares in the center. The fourth is a 5x5 square with a vertical bar of 5 squares in the center.
- Row 2: Three patterns of increasing complexity. The first is a diagonal line of 3 squares. The second is a 3x3 square with a diagonal line of 3 squares. The third is a 4x4 square with a diagonal line of 4 squares.
- Row 3: Three patterns of increasing complexity. The first is a vertical bar of 2 squares. The second is a 2x3 rectangle with a vertical bar of 2 squares in the center. The third is a 2x5 rectangle with a vertical bar of 2 squares in the center.
