

Master 30

Connections: Patterns in Nature

We often think of a pattern as something that repeats again and again in the same way.

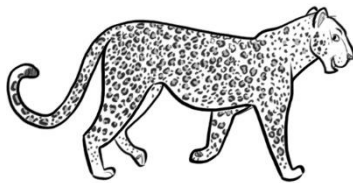

In nature, patterns can be found everywhere, including on animals, plants, and in the sky.

A zebra's stripes form a pattern, although no two stripes are exactly the same.

Zebra

What patterns do you see?

Leopard

Chameleon

Honeycomb

Look around you. What patterns do you see?