Identifying Population and Sample

- Choose a topic of interest to you.
Use the Internet to find an article on a related study.
Searching for “Studies about _____” will yield a variety of results that you could consider.
Record the name and source of your article.
- Describe what the study is about.
- Identify the population and the sample in your study.
Provide as much information as you can about the sample.
- Why was a sample used and not the entire population?
- Do you have any concerns about bias? Explain.
- Did you learn something that surprised you?
If so, why did it surprise you?
